Absolutely amazing Soonwoo was always willing to lend a hand, and always responded to my (many) emails within a reasonable amount of time (which is even more incredible if you consider the fact that he's a busy graduate student). I also felt as though he really cared about us as students and as people at office hours, he'd ask us about how we were doing, as well as about any material we were struggling with. He was also very flexible with discussion sections, and was great with feedback on problem sets.

Soonwoo was helpful and excited about the material. He is also receptive to talking about his experience in the economics graduate program.

Soonwoo was so helpful and clearly took the time to help us with our learning! I was really appreciative for his help throughout the class. His R sessions were also pretty useful!

Instructor: Soonwoo Kwon

Sometimes seemed a little frantic with his explanations - maybe just slowing down with explaining things would help.

Soonwoo was great! He was more than willing to help out, especially if you emailed him for extra office hours. He was encouraging and no question was too basic or embarrassing to ask.

I really appreciated how available and dedicated Soonwoo was. He went above and beyond to make sure we were supported. For example, at some point I was having difficulty understanding some of the homework, and he wrote up solutions specially for me. His review sessions were also super helpful in preparing for the final exam. The only thing is that I feel I didn't really learn R as well as I would have liked.

Excellent TF! Was quick to respond to any questions, held super helpful review sessions and office hours, clearly had the students best interests at heart.

Instructor: Soonwoo Kwon

really helpful and open!! always willing to help me out with any problem I had even outside of Office Hours and really helped clarify the material I was confused about in class. I could not have gone through the problem sets or topics in this course without his help.
